Organisation: Sussex Learning Network

Purpose: The aim of this research project is to investigate current industry practices and labour market information in order to increase our understanding of work-based learning in the fashion industry. The project will evaluate the experiences of students while on placement, and also the perspectives of employers supervising the learning experience. A minimum of two practitioner placements will be undertaken and documented by video over the summer vacation, to provide raw qualitative data and also an editable resource to show students within teaching sessions. A final multimedia resource is planned for 2008, incorporating video diaries, discussion forums and latest industry information, which will be used as a teaching tool, a notice board, and to support students in their personal development planning. An initial report of observations, along with a video diary will be available from October 2007
